

DISTRICT SIX PARTICIPATES IN CRASH RESPONDER SAFETY WEEK

The Florida Department of Transportation (FDOT) District Six TSM&O Office participated in the Federal Highway Administration's (FHWA) Crash Responder Safety Week (CRSW) campaign in November 2025.

The District developed a series of initiatives to raise public awareness and improve driver behavior around active work zones in the field.

The goal is to humanize our field responders and put a face behind the uniform so that everyone can arrive home safely.

FHWA sponsors the campaign every year to remind motorists that responder safety is everyone's responsibility. It empowers state and district offices to highlight the brave men and women who work to keep our roadways safe every day. The goal is to humanize our field responders and put a face behind the uniform so that everyone can arrive home safely.

District Six launched a five-day social media campaign featuring short videos and testimonials from Road Rangers and Incident Response Vehicle Operators that followed FHWA's daily themes: Safety Starts with You, Driver Education, Responder Training, More than a Crash, and Slow Down, Move Over. In addition to its digital outreach, the District also shared public service announcements on dynamic message signs, published newsflash items, and participated in a community engagement event with Florida's Turnpike Enterprise.

The District Six TIM Team is committed to supporting the initiatives that promote responder safety. From creating public awareness campaigns for CRSW to optimizing vehicle fleets with the latest technology for increased visibility, the District is always working to provide the safest operating conditions for those who protect our roadways every day. For more information about CRSW please visit the national webpage here.
